WHY PROFESSIONALS REFER

Objective planning without product pressure.

Bracket Planning helps clients make coordinated financial decisions while respecting their existing professional relationships.

Simple positioning

Clients receive planning advice without pressure to move assets, buy products, or enter an assets-under-management relationship.

Compensation and corporate cash flow

Salary, dividends, retained earnings, corporate investments, personal spending needs, and long-term withdrawal strategy.

Tax-aware retirement income

RRSP/RRIF withdrawals, corporate withdrawals, taxable income, CPP/OAS timing, OAS clawbacks, and sustainable spending.

Estate and succession issues

Estate equalization, intergenerational transfer, capital gains funding, trusts, business succession, and family harmony.

Transparent engagement

Fees are disclosed, discussed, and agreed upon up front before the Letter of Engagement is signed.

GOOD CLIENTS TO REFER

- Incorporated professionals with retained earnings
- Professionals deciding between salary, dividends, or a blended approach
- Business owners considering succession, wind-down, or sale
- Families with corporate, estate, or equalization complexity
- Clients coordinating personal assets, corporate assets, and estate goals
- Clients who want advice-only planning, not investment product sales

COMMON REFERRAL TRIGGERS

- "Should I pay myself salary, dividends, or both?"
- "How do I access money in my corporation tax-efficiently?"
- "Can my corporate and personal assets support retirement?"
- "What happens to retained earnings when I retire or wind down?"
- "How do I pass wealth to my family fairly?"
- "I want advice, not a salesperson."

Bracket Planning | Independent fee-only financial planning

All planning advice is specific to each client's situation. Results vary by client. Tax, legal, and investment decisions should be coordinated with the client's professional advisors.
