

Private wealth planning for professional athletes

Your career is short. Your money should last a lifetime.

A professional athlete can earn in a few short years what most people earn in a lifetime, then live off it for fifty more. The pressures are unique: sudden wealth, cross-border taxes, a constant stream of investment pitches, and family and friends who need answers.

We are independent, advice-only planners. We are paid one flat fee, never a commission and never a cut of your assets. Our only job is to protect what you have earned and make sure it lasts a lifetime.

THE RETAINER

One flat fee.

$20,000

Starting point, per year

No products sold. No commissions. No percentage of your portfolio. You pay a transparent annual retainer, priced on the complexity of your situation, not the size of your accounts.

Our advice is neutral, unbiased and always in your corner.

"Let me check with my planner."

Players are approached constantly with investment opportunities and business schemes, and many of them come from family and friends. Being able to say "I have to check with my financial planner first" takes you out of the uncomfortable position of saying no.

We become the neutral filter. Careers of earnings have been lost to a single bad deal. We make sure yours is not one of them.

Built for players and the people around them

The right time to plan is before the money arrives, and the people closest to a player are often the ones carrying the pressure. That is why we work with the whole family, not just the athlete.

We work with

- + Professional and drafted athletes
- + Parents of young prospects
- + Spouses and partners of players

Our planning model

Independent, fee-based, and built around your decisions.

Because we do not sell investments, we have no reason to steer you toward any product. We are paid the same flat retainer whether you buy, sell or wait. That independence is the whole point: neutral, unbiased advice you can trust for decades, not a single season.

A short window

Peak earning years

A career can be measured in years. The plan has to capture the earnings while they are here.

Sudden wealth

Money before experience

Large sums arrive early, often before the financial experience to manage them has been built.

A 50-year runway

Retired young

Most athletes retire decades before their peers. The income has to stretch across a long life.

What the retainer covers

A complete financial team, in one flat fee.

Everything below is coordinated by us and delivered through the retainer. We bring the specialists together so you have one plan, not a dozen disconnected opinions.

Lifelong income & cash flow + Income built to last a full life after sport + Retirement funding, drawdown and projections + Spending analysis, budgeting and limits + A plan built so you never run out of money	Tax & cross-border planning + Review of tax returns, year after year + Planning for future and capital-gains tax + Cross-border and multi-jurisdiction income + Estate and trust tax strategy	Investment management + Asset allocation and true diversification + Discretionary money management via our partners + Family, inheritance and next-generation assets + Independent oversight of every recommendation
Risk & asset protection + Life, critical illness, disability & income cover + Home, auto, liability and property insurance + Creditor protection and litigation defence + Safeguards against power-of-attorney fraud	Estate, legacy & family governance + Wills, powers of attorney and directives + Trusts, beneficiary and successor designations + Generational wealth transfer and philanthropy + Family meetings, mediation and harmony	Guidance & guardrails + Vetting the deals and pitches that reach you + Preventing costly business mistakes + Family-law referrals: pre-nups & agreements + Access to our full professional network

How the relationship works

- + A comprehensive written financial plan
- + Two formal planning meetings per year
- + Year-round advice between meetings, a call before any big decision
- + Coordination with your agent, accountant, lawyer and money manager

Retirement planning for early retirees

Most athletes retire decades before everyone else. We plan for the long runway with the specialized tools that fit: RCAs, IPPs (for incorporated players), and CPP/OAS timing, so the income keeps coming long after the last game.

A simple first step

The first conversation is about fit, no cost, no obligation. You can ask how we work, what we would look at first, and whether a flat-fee retainer makes sense for you and your family.

START THE CONVERSATION

info@bracketplanning.ca

Independent advice-only planning, from $20,000 / year.